Dear Families,

What a wonderful start to the beginning of the new school year. Our school came alive at 8:15 Tuesday morning as all 266 students entered through the doors, along with parents and grandparents. The first day of school is a very special day for students, parents and staff, and I want to especially welcome all of our new families to their new school. I truly missed everyone, and I am so pleased and happy to be returning as principal of Holy Rosary School.

On behalf of my staff I would like to thank our Parent Association for the lovely luncheon prepared by Star Campbell, Melissa Jamison, Michael Rose, Amanda Schatz, Renee Drew and Kim Davis court. I also want to thank our wonderful Parent Association for hosting our "Welcome Back" coffee yesterday. It was so nice for our parents to socialize together after being away for the summer. New association co-president Maribel Menanno presented the various volunteer opportunities and events sponsored by the Parent Association and/or the school for the year. Thank you to Dana Kopij, Karianna Wilson and Kim Davis court for serving at this 1st day event. As you can see, the Parent Association has been busy preparing for the new school year.

Please join us for Mass of the Holy Spirit on Friday morning at 9:00, followed by our Opening Ceremony, located on the front lawn, beginning at 10:00. We will be celebrating the beginning of our new school year as a community, and this year we will feature a special guest from the Olympics. Remember, formal uniform is required on Friday, so students need to wear their sweaters.

Also, our school fundraising will kick off with the "Swing for the Kids" Golf Tournament on Monday, September 26th. You won't want to miss this fabulous event, with its scramble format that is so enjoyable for beginner and experienced players alike. Just sign up on the form included in this folder. If you are not a golfer, we can use more volunteers to help run the event. I appreciate all the work that Angela Antonson, Theresa Knoblauch, Scott Taffera, Tamara and Justin Crisostomo, and Mac McIntosh are doing to make this a huge success!

Safety Reminders:

- Due to the increased number of Pre-K families, ONLY families with Pre-K children can use the front parking lot to drop off or pick up students before or after school. All others please use the lower lot if you need to park.

- Students need to wear shoes that tie or lace and stay on their feet, such as tennis shoes. Students need shoes that allow them to run and jump at recess and P.E.

Let's start the year off right by being on time in the morning. Doors open at 8:15, so please have your students here before that time so that they can go immediately to their classrooms when the doors open. This will ensure they are prepared for the start of the school day.

I am looking forward to another great school year! Please join us for as many events as you can, beginning with the Back To School family dance this Saturday evening, September 10th, from 5:30-8:00 in the gym.

Blessings,

Bible Study at Holy Rosary

Unlocking the Mystery of the Bible

Want to study the Bible, but don't know where to start? Unlocking the Mystery of the Bible offers a simple gateway to understanding our Scriptures.

The Bible is a story of the Father's unfailing love for us, a love that we are called to share with each other. This study helps you uncover the story woven throughout Scripture, so that you can get the "big picture" of the Bible and understand what it is all about.

With engaging presentations by Jeff Cavins, and helpful study tools, Unlocking the Mystery of the Bible will give you what you need to read the Bible on your own, and to study it in greater depth.

Unlocking the Mystery of the Bible is an eight-part class. We meet on the 2nd, 4th, and 5th Tuesdays of the month, from 7:00pm-8:30, in the Pastoral Center:

Dear Parents:

This year, the Archdiocese of Seattle is implementing a new form of standardized testing for students; we will no longer administer the IOWA/ITBS tests in October.

From September 19th through October 5th, your child will take tests called Measures of Academic Progress[®] (MAP[®]). We give students MAP tests to determine your child's instructional level and to measure academic growth throughout the school year, and from year to year in the areas of Mathematics, Reading, ELA and Science. Your child will take the tests on a computer.

MAP tests are unique in that they adapt to be appropriate for your child's level of learning. As a result, each student has the same opportunity to succeed and maintain a positive attitude toward testing. And with MAP tests, we can administer shorter tests and use less class time while still receiving detailed, accurate information about your child's growth. Over the next few weeks, your child will spend a total of about six hours completing these tests.

Each school year, students in grades 2 through 8 take the tests in the Fall and Spring. Following each testing period, you will receive a report showing your child's growth.

We are truly excited to begin a new era that focuses on every child's individual growth and achievement. Partnering to help all kids learn, parents and teachers can have a profound positive effect on the lives of our children.

Sincerely,

The MAPs Coordination Team –

Susan Venable, Parisa Asgharzadeh, Jamie Mulvihill, Sheila Walde

SHORT NOTES

Excellent attendance

Being in school every day means your child won't miss out on learning. Try to schedule appointments and family trips outside of school hours. If he asks to stay home "just because," remind him of what he'll miss, such as his reading group or PE class. Explain that he can be absent only if he's sick or if there's a family emergency.

DID YOU KNOW?

Children who regularly eat meals with their families tend to do better in school and avoid risky behavior. Eating dinner together is great, but other meals count, too. If you work at night, maybe you could make time for a family breakfast. Or on a weekend, try a picnic lunch!

Celebrate progress

Suggest that your youngster create a fun reminder of all the things she has accomplished. Let her cover a container with construction paper and label it "I did it!" Then, she can write each success ("I learned to add fractions") on a slip of paper and put it in the container. If she's feeling discouraged, have her read the slips.

Worth quoting

"The best way to cheer yourself up is to try to cheer somebody else up!"
Mark Twain

JUST FOR FUN

Q: Can a kangaroo jump higher than the Empire State Building?

A: Of course. The Empire State Building can't jump!

Conversations about school

When you think of parent involvement, do you picture moms and dads volunteering in classrooms? That's one way to help—but research shows that supporting your child's education at home is even more important. Here are four conversations that will help you stay involved.

"Let's see what you brought home."

Look at completed work to find out what your youngster is learning and how well she's doing. You could comment on her social studies report or pottery project, for instance. ("You know a lot about our state's history!") Also, respond to notes from her teacher, and sign her weekly folder or daily planner if required.

"Show me what you have for homework."

It's your child's job to do her homework, but you play a role, too. Make sure she knows what she's supposed to do by having her explain the assignments to you. After she finishes her homework, glance over the work to see that it's complete.

"Describe a book you enjoyed today."

This gives you an idea of what your youngster prefers to read. Then, build a daily reading habit by asking what she'd like to read tonight. Encourage her reading and listening skills by reading aloud to her and letting her read to you.

"Tell me what you learned that you'd like to know more about."

Use her interests as jumping-off points for activities to share. If she likes geometry, you might do tangrams together. If she's fascinated by how animals adapt to winter, take her to the library to research the subject or to the zoo to see live animals. ♥

After-school questions

Asking "How was school today?" might not get you far. Instead, ask questions like these for a better picture of your youngster's day:

- "What's the coolest thing that happened? What wasn't so cool?"
- "Pretend you're the teacher. How would you describe the day?"
- "What made you laugh?"
- "What was the most creative thing you did?"
- "How were you kind or helpful today? Was anyone kind or helpful to you?" ♥

What does respect look like?

Your child's daily dealings with adults and kids alike will be more pleasant if he speaks and acts respectfully. Try these tips for helping him learn respect.

Respectful replies. Think about something that you and your youngster disagree on (say, whether his video game time should be limited). Model having a respectful discussion about it. You might say that his brain and body are growing and that he needs to run and play to stay healthy. Then, suggest a respectful response, such as, "I want to be healthy, but I love video games." Have him brainstorm other situations where people have different opinions but still speak to each other with respect.

Everyday acts. When you mow the lawn or clean up after your dog, you can teach your youngster about respect for neighbors. Explain that keeping your neighborhood clean and neat makes it nice for everyone. Ask him to think of other respectful things neighbors should do. If you share an apartment laundry room, he might say that you respect neighbors' time by removing your clothes when they're done so others get to use the washers and dryers. ♥

A reading challenge

By reading more complex books, your child can learn new words, facts, and ideas. He'll also be exposed to more complicated plots and will grow as a reader. Share these suggestions:

- Knowing something about the topic or setting will make a tougher book easier to comprehend. If your youngster is reading a novel set in China, he could talk to someone who has been there or look up the country online (try a children's site like kids.nationalgeographic.com).

- Encourage your child to look at a simpler book on the same subject. A picture-book biography about Harriet Tubman may help your youngster better understand a textbook chapter on the civil rights movement, for instance.

- Suggest that your child read complicated material with pencil and paper in hand. He can jot down questions, words to look up, or facts he wants to learn more about. ♥

Strong study habits

Q: My third grader has to spend more time studying this year. How can I make sure she studies effectively?

A: Set your daughter up for success by helping her find a distraction-free study spot. Also, have her come up with a study routine. For instance, she could reserve time each evening to review her textbook and notes in the days leading up to a test or quiz.

Also, many students find it helpful to jot down a purpose each time they study. Your child might write: "I will learn the definitions of all the boldfaced words in chapter 7, section 1."

Finally, encourage her to experiment with study strategies to find what works best. She could close his eyes and imagine how a word is spelled or draw a grid with 9 squares to solve 3 x 3. Or she might find it easier to spell or recite math facts aloud in rhythm or to a familiar tune. ♥

Talking to kids about money

My children were always asking to buy things like dress-up shoes or new games. They didn't seem to understand that these items weren't in our budget.

I wanted them to learn about how we spend our money—and that it is limited. So I got a spiral notebook and labeled it "Family Spending Journal." I explained that for two weeks, everyone would keep a record of what they spent money on. I listed items like my subway fare, the electric bill, and food at the grocery store. The children wrote down expenses such as school lunch, soccer cleats, and field trip fees.

After a few days, they were surprised by how many things we needed money for. Our kids had no idea, for example, that we paid for taxes on our income, several types of insurance, and membership in our homeowners' association. Sometimes they still ask to buy too many things at the store, but when I say no, at least they understand why. ♥
